30th Annual

Leadership Training Institute

January 23 – 27, 2017

Educational athletics and activities are an extension of the classroom that provide outstanding opportunities to teach life lessons. Through participation, young people learn values and skills that help prepare them for the future and the resulting positive outcomes continue far beyond graduation.

Sponsored, facilitated and directed by the MIAA Educational Athletics Staff

*Featuring national trainers:
Kevin Ringhofer and Marty Harding*

Participants in the 29th Annual Leadership Training Institute (2016)

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Nationally, over ten million students are involved in athletics and school activities. Through participation in these programs, students become role models, for better or worse, in their schools and communities. Therefore, school activities provide an excellent opportunity to set positive standards for participants, peers, families and fans.

The MIAA Leadership Training Institute is designed as a training forum to address these opportunities. For over 30 years, the MIAA has been training education professionals to enhance school programming related to alcohol, tobacco and other drug (ATOD) prevention, wellness, student leadership and sportsmanship. Current issues relating to choices surrounding opioids, sexting, and teenage dating violence will be addressed.

This program will provide an opportunity for member schools to showcase their successes, network and learn from the experiences of other school leaders, as well as expand their local core of volunteer leaders.

Member schools are invited to nominate candidates for the 30th Annual MIAA Leadership Training Institute. Thirty individuals will be selected for this five-day residential program. The cost of training, educational materials, hotel accommodations and meals will be covered by the MIAA. Please note the following participation requirements:

- Participants must make a full five-day commitment to the program
- Participants are required to stay at a local hotel arranged by the MIAA
- All sessions are mandatory and will be held at the MIAA Office or local hotel

Space is limited – Please submit your application soon!

30th Annual MIAA Leadership Training Institute January 23-27, 2017

The positive educational outcomes of interscholastic athletics and activities do not happen by chance. They happen because teacher-coaches, activity advisors and school administration adopt an intentional and purposeful approach to the interscholastic athletic and activity experience.

Comments from past participants:

"I have learned so much from your training that will assist me in my workplace. I have already started to use/share some of the strategies and tools you gave us to use with our students and coaches and they are working remarkably well. I came away from the workshop feeling so confident and it really does help when working with folks from different districts and even different occupations with viewpoints from another's perspective. Thanks for the wonderful training and new skills I now have."

Frank DeVall – East Bridgewater High School Principal

"From my time at the Leadership Training Institute I was able to reflect on our current practices, collaborate with others in the field and examine ways in which our department, and district, can continually improve. While I have attended various PD opportunities, this training was without a doubt the most beneficial and applicable."

Melissa Dlugolecki - Arlington High School Athletic Director
