The current professional literature on Learning Recovery shows that the average student will have approximately 4-6 months of learning to recover. However, many ELL students will experience between 8 and 12 months of learning to recover. This program provides teachers, administrators, and school clinical staff with the skills needed to promote optimum learning recovery among this group of students.

The modules include:

- Module One: Overview of the English Language Learner Experience
- Module Two: Questioning and Assessment for Non-English Speaking Students
- Module Three: Teacher Language and Social-Emotional Learning
- Module Four: Special Education and English Language Learners
- Module Five: Where Culture and Language Intersect

Cindy Crimmin, Ph.D., has served in both public and private schools. Beginning as a bilingual ELL and Science teacher in the Boston Public Schools at the middle school level, she has taught Spanish at all levels from early elementary to high school Advanced Placement and was a teacher of English language learners. She completed a Ph. D. in Educational Administration at Boston College. She worked in curriculum leadership at the central office and served as an elementary principal in Watertown and Weston. Finding joy of learning for her students and for herself continues to drive all that Cindy does.
