This workshop is designed to enhance the knowledge and execution of facilitating and writing Individual Evaluation Plan (IEP) meetings and the plan.

Over the years guidelines and expectations of schools have changed significantly. Remote IEP meetings have changed the way we host parent/student meeting and involvement. It is time to learn to run extremely efficient meetings (virtual or on-site), write student focused IEP's that fully support equity, inclusion and diversity in the least restrictive settings, while meeting the needs of ALL students with full parental support of the IEP.

Emily Dean joins Seaside with a wealth of knowledge and experience as a teacher and leader of students in diverse populations. With an M.Ed. in TESOL and ESL licensure, she has experience with diverse populations of EL students including dually identified EL students with disabilities and SLIFE students, as well as with the impact of trauma on learning and language development. She has experience with the development of ELE curriculum utilizing Understanding by Design and with the Coordinated Program Review process. She is also qualified as an instructor of both the Teacher and Administrator SEI Endorsement course. With her graduate certificate in Teaching Bilingual Learners with Disabilities and her knowledge of intervention and evaluation of bilingual students she now serves as a team leader and Associate Director of Student Services in Marblehead, MA.
